

Kansas Unclaimed Property It's Your Money - Take It Back!

DENNIS MCKINNEY
KANSAS STATE TREASURER

"Kansans value private property rights, and as custodian of this unclaimed property I take the responsibility to reunite people with their assets very seriously. Our staff works hard to return as much as possible by publishing the owner names on our website and performing outreach to reconnect people with what is rightfully theirs. The State Treasurer's Office is safeguarding over $200 million in lost property for the rightful owners. Please check today for yourself, family and friends. Making a claim is free and easy."

What is Unclaimed Property?

Mostly, it's money, but it can be any financial asset that has not been claimed by its owner or has not had any owner-generated activity for a specific time period (one to five years for most items). Unclaimed property is not land.

Typically, unclaimed property is generated when people lose or forget to cash a check, or forget to alert their bank or stockbroker when they move. Any company or organization that writes checks, drafts or warrants has the potential to possess unclaimed property.

Examples include:

- Utility Deposits
- Payroll Checks
- Refunds & Overpayments
- Money Orders
- Bank Accounts
- Stocks & Bonds
- Safe Deposit Box Contents
- Insurance Proceeds

The state serves as a permanent custodian of the property until the rightful owner is found. The money is held in the general fund for the benefit of all citizens of Kansas.

As always, claiming your unclaimed property is free. If you are contacted by a professional finder offering to return unclaimed property to you for a fee, be aware that you can claim the property directly from the State Treasurer's Office FREE of charge.
